DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction:

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-6, 9-22, 25-34, drawn to a method of identifying a compound that selectively modulates a first TLR-mediated cellular activity to a different extent than it modulates at least a second TLR-mediated cellular activity, by providing an assay to detect said compound, class 436, sub-class 501.
 - II. Claims 7-8, 23-24, drawn to a compound, class and sub-class undeterminable.
 - III. Claims 35-55, drawn to a method of treating a condition, by administering an IRM compound, class and subclass undeterminable.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The method of invention I is distinct from the compound of invention II, because the compound of Group II may be identified by other means, such as by screening phage display libraries.

Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (M.P.E.P. § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method of Group III can be practiced with materially different product, such as by administering to an antibiotic, and the compound of invention II may have other uses, such as using it for functional studies.

Art Unit: 1647

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). The instant specification does not disclose that these methods would be used together. The method of identifying a compound (group I) and the method of treating a condition by using an agent are unrelated as they comprise distinct steps and utilize different products which demonstrates that each method has a different mode of operation. Each invention performs this function by using a structurally and functionally divergent material. Moreover, the methodology and materials necessary for treating a condition differs significantly from one that identifies a compound. Therefore, each method is divergent in materials and steps. For these reasons the Inventions I and III are patentably distinct.

Having shown that these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter as defined by MPEP § 808.02, the Examiner has prima facie shown a serious burden of search (see MPEP § 803). Therefore, an initial requirement of restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

2. Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a diligently-filed petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(h).
